

Fifth Grade Summer Reading Requirements

Students entering fifth grade in September are expected to read all summer long. Students should read as many books as possible, however, each fifth grader will be expected to write about only one fiction book that he/she read over the summer. This writing task will be assigned during the first few days of school. In order to prepare for the writing assignment, each student should complete the following organizer as he/she reads. This organizer will be used when the writing task is assigned in class.
